

HLHS: Diagram- Fenestrated Fontan

Diagram depicting fenestrated Fontan. A baffle containing a small (usually 4 mm) fenestration is sewn inside the right atrium to connect the inferior vena cava with the right pulmonary artery. A previous bidirectional Glenn shunt had been performed (end-to-side anastomosis of the superior vena cava with the right pulmonary artery).

